Family Trees: A Celebration of Children's Literature*
~ Fanciful trees decorated with inspiration from children's books ~ at the Concord Museum in historic Concord, Massachusetts

Concord, MA/ A love of books and reading is a lifelong treasure passed from adult to child, from generation to generation. The 14th annual Family Trees: A Celebration of Children's Literature at the Concord Museum in historic Concord, Massachusetts is sure to bring out the kid in everyone! Giving Concord's renowned literary tradition a creative twist, from December 4, 2009 through January 3, 2010 the Museum's galleries are filled with fanciful trees of all shapes and sizes, decorated with original ornaments inspired by acclaimed children's storybooks and contemporary picture book favorites.

Serving as inspiration for this year's trees are books that are classics and sure-to-become classics. Selections for this year include: Fancy Nancy: Explorer Extraordinaire, by Jane O'Connor, illustrated by Robin Preiss Glasser; If You Give a Cat a Cupcake, by Laura Numeroff, illustrated by Felicia Bond; The Imaginary Garden, by Andrew Larsen, illustrated by Irene Luxbacher; The Snow Day, by Komako Sakai; Town Mouse, Country Mouse, by Jan Brett; Flotsam, by David Weisner; and many other favorites. The exhibition's focus on children's literature makes Family Trees unique among the many holiday events in Greater Boston. Each tree serves as a canvas for the artistic creations of a dedicated team of volunteer decorators. Inspired by the storyline, the illustrations, the characters or setting of a particular book, the decorators let their imaginations take flight, much to the delight of visitors of all ages from all over New England. Proceeds from Family Trees, organized by the Museum's Guild of Volunteers, benefit the Concord Museum's educational mission serving an audience of preschoolers, school-age children, college students, families, adults and seniors in over 600 school and public programs yearly.

Hours are Monday – Saturday 9:00 – 5:00, Sunday 12:00 – 5:00. The Museum will be closed all day on Christmas Day and at 1:00 on Christmas Eve. The Museum will be open on New Year’s Day, January 1 from 9:00 – 5:00. Museum Admission during this benefit event is $15 adults, $10 seniors, $6 children (4-18). As part of the celebration of Family Trees, a host of family programs delight and inspire, and the Concord Museum Shop is well-stocked with books, treasures and trinkets for holiday shopping.
